URBAN REDEVELOPMENT PLAN AMENDMENT EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Purpose of Legislation

The City of Atlanta proposes to amend the City of Atlanta's Urban Redevelopment Plan (URP) and Urban Redevelopment Area (URA). The reason for this change is to increase the boundary of Atlanta's URP and to broaden the focus of economic development issues facing certain areas of our community. A copy of the currently approved plan is available on line on the Office of Planning's web page. The draft amended plan will be available to the public on the web page on November 22, 2010.

Amendments to the Urban Redevelopment Plan

The Urban Redevelopment Plan for the City of Atlanta was written with a focus on transportation and infrastructure. The amended URP highlights broader economic development issues facing the area in addition to those already covered; this includes poverty, job loss, population growth, and other economic development needs. The amended plan highlights areas with pervasive poverty, underdevelopment, general distress, and blight, displaying these issues through data identifying problems such as job loss, vacancy rates, and low building permit activity.

The current Atlanta Urban Redevelopment Plan highlights and addresses several key outstanding issues identified in the community redevelopment plans throughout the city to guide future public and private investment. The plan identifies future development opportunities in transit and infrastructure and suggests potential stabilization methods in neighborhoods. These important redevelopment issues will remain in the amended plan. Including additional data points such as job loss and unemployment in the URP will allow the City of Atlanta to better leverage private and public investment in areas that are in greatest need of job creation. A specific example of this initiative includes the City of Atlanta's application for the state's opportunity zone designation to assist in job creation after the passage of the amended URP.

New Boundary Distinction

The new boundary of the URA will include the current redevelopment area and will be extended to include some census tract block groups with, or adjacent to those with, 15% or greater poverty. The area identified for the amended boundary has significant poverty, unemployment, home foreclosures, dilapidated structures, and/ or general distress. The issues facing this area are consistent with the criteria required by state code defining a URP.

Example: Opportunity Zone

One of the suggestions included in the amended redevelopment plan is an application to the state for Opportunity Zone designation for areas within the amended URA. An Opportunity Zone (OZ) is a Georgia designation that is currently administered through the Department of Community Affairs for areas with 15% or greater poverty and with an adopted Urban Redevelopment Plan. An OZ would allow Atlanta to increase the amount of state job tax credits from $1,750 to $3,500 per job and would lower the job creation requirement from 15 to 2 jobs. Therefore, a company creating 2 or more jobs in one year would receive $3,500/ job/ year for 5 years. There is no fiscal impact from this program on City of Atlanta; instead, this is a state-based tax incentive that will encourage job growth in our community.

PUBLIC COMMENT

The legislation to amend the Urban Redevelopment Plan and to apply for the Opportunity Zone will be on the agenda of the City Council Community Development and Human Resources Committee Quarterly Public Hearing on Monday, November 29, 2010 at 6:00 pm. Citizens are encouraged to come out and provide comments. Staff from the Department of Planning and Community Development and Atlanta Development Authority will be present.

Frequently Asked Questions Urban Redevelopment Plan Amendments

How was the boundary for the amended URA determined?

- The new boundary is a data-driven boundary based upon the following criteria:
 1. All block groups with 15% or greater poverty.
 2. Two major parcels which were surrounded by 15% or greater poverty were added. This included Fort McPherson and Chattahoochee Industrial Area.
- The entire existing URA is included in the new boundary.

Why was the boundary amended?

- To include additional areas in the city in need of redevelopment.
- To create a data-driven boundary for Atlanta's Urban Redevelopment Plan.
- To provide a larger portion of the city with access to public and private redevelopment dollars only used within areas with an URP.

What are the amendments to the Urban Redevelopment Plan?

- The URP has been amended so that it is a more comprehensive and strategic plan for redevelopment of the city.
- In addition to transportation and infrastructure, the new URP will also highlight job growth opportunities, population growth and patterns, vacancy rates, building permit activity, and other economic development criteria.

What do we stand to gain by amending the Urban Redevelopment Plan?

- More of the city can benefit from the programs and resources included in the URP.
- Including job loss and unemployment in the URP will allow the city to better leverage private and public investment in areas that are in greatest need of job creation.
- One example of a redevelopment tool that can be used after the URP amendment is passed is the state's Opportunity Zone program.

What is an Opportunity Zone?

- A State of Georgia redevelopment tool which provides incentives for job creation.
- Any legal business entity creating 2 or more full time jobs will receive $3500/ job/ year for 5 years in state tax credits towards income tax and state withholding.
- A minimum wage requirement is set by the State of Georgia.
- Examples:
 - o Small Business ABC expands their business and creates 4 new jobs in an Atlanta Opportunity Zone
 - 4 jobs * $3,500 * 5 years = $70,000 in tax credits
 - o Company XYZ relocates their corporate headquarters from New York to an Atlanta Opportunity Zone, creating 600 jobs
 - 600 jobs * $3,500 * 5 years = $10,500,000 in tax credit

What is the cost to the City of Atlanta?

- The OZ is a state designation and has no financial cost to the City of Atlanta.
- ADA has secured assistance from Georgia Power to help with the amendment to the Urban Redevelopment Plan and Boundary as well as to help with the OZ application in order to lessen the assistance needed by the Department of Planning and city employees.

What is the timeline for the OZ application?

- ADA intends to file our completed application by the end of the year, 2010.
- Georgia Department of Community Affairs requests 45-60 days for application review before granting the opportunity zone.
- Opportunity Zones exist for 10 years before expiration.
- Additional OZ application may be filed in the future. Possible areas for a Phase 2 application include: Atlanta streetcar district, Murphy's Triangle, White Street, DeKalb Industrial area, and Whitehall.

What other communities in the Metro Atlanta region have an OZ?

- Cities of Acworth and Marietta in Cobb County; unincorporated Cherokee County; Cities of Roswell, Sandy Springs, and Union City as well as unincorporated Fulton County; City of Norcross and unincorporated Gwinnett County are all current Opportunity Zones.

Why not designate as much of Atlanta as possible as an OZ?

- ADA has met with DCA and we have been advised to apply for Opportunity Zones in phases. The first phase will include select areas with potential for industrial, office, and small business job creation. These areas have been pre-approved by the State.
- Atlanta can apply for opportunity zones in phases.
- The new boundary of the Urban Redevelopment Plan allows for the greatest area possible for future eligibility for the OZ program.
